
Lens

TABLES

Patricia Urquiola

Description

The result of research on transparent surfaces, the Lens table is inspired by the kaleidoscope and the stained glass windows of 18th century Venetian palaces. The top is obtained from the coupling of two crystals with a special internal film that creates surprising optical effects. The elegant structure that supports it is made of steel.

Technical information

Top

glass and lenticular film

Frame

drawn steel